

Cingular Bargaining Report #3
January 21, 2005

The bargaining committee met with the company daily this week and concluded yesterday after a morning session. Bargaining is in recess while both sides review counter proposals and prepare for next week's planned discussions around economic issues.

In this week's sessions, the Union proposed changes to address issues identified by the membership concerning scheduling, job titles and classifications, stress on the job, safety and job security.

The committee also stressed to the company that we are serious about bargaining improvements for our members in retail.

As we move forward, it's critical for you, the members in Cingular, to support the bargaining committee by showing solidarity.

Stay tuned into updates on the CWA web site at www.cwa-union.org/cingular and sign up for electronic updates.

Remember that our strength at the bargaining table comes from you!

MOBILIZE!
